

Joining the reserve & deployment

The COVID-19 Renfrewshire Volunteer Reserve was initiated to support our third sector members and partners across the county by providing a focal point for those wishing to volunteer in response to the ongoing coronavirus epidemic.

By signing up to the reserve its members understand that they may not be called upon in the immediate short term. Their services may be required in a week, a month, or indeed never.

When a call for volunteers arises we will, in the first instance, deploy and/or signpost individuals in the reserve to our member organisations. If further volunteers are needed we will promote that need to our wider network and then through our public channels.

The reserve sits alongside national efforts promoted by Ready Scotland & SCVO and as the local third sector interface Engage Renfrewshire is working closely with our local and national partners to ensure both resources are used to their best advantage.

If you are an individual and would like to join the reserve please head here: volunteer.engagerenfrewshire.com, register as a member, answer all additional questions and then apply to the COVID-19 Renfrewshire Volunteer Reserve opportunity.

If you are an Engage Renfrewshire member or volunteer group active in Renfrewshire and have identified a need for volunteers please contact info@engagerenfrewshire.com
